The Problem

In today's unique environment, many of us are now working remotely from home. One thing this hasn't changed is the need for users to print off their documents. Users are printing sensitive documents directly to the network enabled printers. We all know what it's like to go to the printer and see multiple copies of a printout with sensitive customer information just sitting there waiting for a co-worker to pick it up - That's a major security and compliance risk - Many of these documents are left on these devices for hours or even days!

The Solution

Copitrak can give users the ability to automatically store these printed documents to be released with a contactless swipe of their ID card. This extends secure document release to all print devices in your fleet. With a simple installation and deployment, the results promote a more streamlined cost effective and efficient process, giving your firm increased security authentication.

Ethernet Card Reader – extend secure document release to all print devices in your fleet.
